Between 1952 and April 1954, jet fighters were almost daily seen aloft in the Podborany (Podersam) (50°14' N / 13°25' E) area. The aircraft were always seen in elements of two and referred to by the local population as MiGs. They were small aircraft with swept back wings. Sometime around April 1954, about 50 MiGs were on 3 occasions seen crossing over the town from south to north. Daily at 1100 a employed on the
